Vote Turnout Very Low In Marion

Scarcity of Contests And Rain Given As Primary Reasons

Voter interest in today's primary election was exceptionally low today with most veteran precinct workers describing the turnout in one word—"lousy."

A spot check of polling places throughout the city showed voters staying away in droves. At 10:30 this morning, only 101 voters had cast their ballots at six precinct stations checked. That apparently was the trend throughout the city. A total of 16,642 persons were eligible to vote in the city's six wards.

Main reason for the lack of voters was the lack of contests and special issues on the ballot. Most precinct workers said today they thought the rain this morning had a part in keeping the vote away.

The League of Women Voters was offering assistance to housewives needing transportation to and from the polls and for baby sitting. A spokesman for the league said their services were not being called for this morning. She added, however, that this was no indication of the vote total. She said last year calls for babysitting were few and the League had not expected to be rushed today.

Workers throughout the city reported this morning's vote was running lower than that in the last corresponding primary election.

At Precinct B of the First Ward workers reported 17 ballots had been cast at 10 a.m. At Precinct E of the Sixth Ward a total of 24 had cast ballots. Precinct A in the Fifth Ward reported 23 votes.

SEN. ROBERT WAGNER

Death Claims Ex-Senator Robert Wagner

New Deal Labor Legislator, 75, Dies At Home of Son

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert F. Wagner, former Democratic U. S. senator who sponsored the Wagner Labor Relations Act and other important New Deal legislation, died yesterday at 75 after a long illness.

Wagner, who resigned from the Senate in June, 1949, because of illness, died at the home of his son, Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr. The son said death was caused by heart fatigue.

The former New York senator had been an invalid for the past few years, and was bedridden a large part of the time. He received the last rites of the Roman Catholic church, to which he was converted several years ago. Funeral

Takes Cash In Register, Money Bags

Waitress Alone In Maplewood Inn As Masked Robber Enters

An armed robber, a blue work-handkerchief covering his face in movie-style, early this morning walked into the Maplewood Inn just south of Marion on Route 4 and walked out minutes later with an estimated $525.

Mrs. Betty McGowan, daughter of the restaurant's owner, Mrs. George Nash, told Marion County Sheriff Glenn Obenour that the robber walked in about 12:30 a.m., told her, "This is a hold-up so stay where you are."

He then calmly walked over to the cash register behind the counter, rang up a "No sale" and emptied its contents into his raincoat pocket.

The register contained about $45 in cash. Later he took two bags of money ready to be banked. They contained about $480 in cash.

Mrs. McGowan was alone in the tavern. Her mother was asleep in living quarters in the inn, which she shared with her daughter.

Mrs. McGowan described the man as being about 25 years old, with a blue and white striped shop cap over blond curly hair and a black rubber raincoat.

He carried a dark-metal revolver as he entered the Inn and the handkerchief covered all his face except his eyes.

Scoops Up Bills, Too

After emptying the register contents into his pocket, the robber then lifted the tray and also took several unpaid bills the restaurant operators kept there. It is though

Brief Governors on Civil Defense, Spending Curbs

The executives arranged to meet behind closed doors again with top federal officials, and to hear once more from President Eisenhower at the close of the extraordinary

Ike Sends Special Message to Congress, Cites Soviet Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration asked Congress today for $5,828,000,000 in new foreign aid as a necessary defense for America itself against "the Soviet threat."

President Eisenhower made the main pleas in a special message to the lawmakers. The detailed presentation was made by a parade of Cabinet members, backed by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in testimony to a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committees.

"The basic purpose of this program is simply the long-term security of the United States living in the shadow of the Soviet threat," the presidential message said.

He noted that the bulk of the money—approximately $5,250,000,000—is set up for military weapons and direct support "to the de-

MAN OF DECISION. Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison's reflective expression told its own story as he talked with reporters following Panmunjom truce conference with Communists last week. He was scheduled to meet the Reds again in a possible showdown session to determine whether the Communists will accept Pakistan as the neutral state to which some prisoners of war might be sent.

Communists Putting Up Smoke Screen, U.N. Command Says

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U. N. Command today accused the Communists of throwing up a smoke screen in the Korean truce talks and said Red stalling "casts serious doubts on their sincerity."

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr. insisted the Allies could not agree to Red demands that 48,000 prisoners who have spurned communism be shipped to a neutral Asian custodian.

"Many would destroy themselves rather than submit to removal from Korea," the senior Allied delegate said.

The Reds refused again at a 59-minute session to commit themselves on a neutral custodian.

The most Red truce delegates would say was that Allied nomination of Pakistan as a neutral caretaker was "worth welcoming." They also insisted that both sides first work out the functions of the Precinct D of the Second ward reported a total of 14 ballots cast. The worker reported, "Primaries never have a good turnout, but they are usually better than this."

Precinct B in the Fourth Ward also reported a slight turnout. Fifteen ballots were cast there by mid-morning. "This is the slowest it's ever been," one worker reported.

Another precinct worker said this morning was the "most monotonous" morning she could remember at a polling place.

At 11 this morning, Precinct 4-E reported 20 people had voted. That was described as a "terrible" turnout by a worker who added that normally around 50 persons would have cast ballots by that time.

Low point of the early-morning voting was reached in Precinct A of the Third Ward where only eight persons had voted. Six of those eight ballots were cast by precinct workers.

Hold Primary Election Today In 55 Counties

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—It's election day today in 55 Ohio counties. Balloting will be for one-party and non-partisan elections.

In Erie County, the county election board estimates it will cost about $5,000, to run a one-party primary for municipal judge. It may be the most expense per voter election in the state. Voting facilities in 40 precincts must be put into operation to select a judge for Sandusky and adjoining Perkins Twp. Both candidates are Democrats.

Voting in Springfield will decide on two water system issues.

The City Council of Shelby in Richland County had to about-face and repeal an ordinance to allow its primary today. The council originally eliminated the primary when only two candidates were nominated for each office. But when Mayor J. M. Stimson died two weeks ago, the council voted to hold the primary to prevent only one name from appearing on the November ballot without a space for a write-in. The decision caught the election board flat-footed. It had to rush the printing of ballots, poll books and supplies.

Wagner served almost 23 years in the U. S. Senate, but illness kept him from attending sessions in the 80th and 81st Congresses. When Wagner resigned, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointed Republican John Foster Dules, the present secretary of state, to fill the seat until the November, 1949, election. In that election, former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic-Liberal party nominee, defeated Dules.

Wagner, a militant New Dealer, sponsored the Social Security Act, the United States Housing Act, the National Industrial Recovery Act and other major legislation of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administrations in addition to the National Labor Relations Act. The Wagner Act later was supplanted by the Taft-Hartley Act.

Born in Germany and brought to this country when 8 years old, Wagner had a long political career in New York state before going to Washington.

He started out in life with a newspaper route to help the family's finances. When he entered public school he was unable to speak English. He won a law degree in 1900.

In 1908 he married Margaret McTeague, who died in 1918. Besides his son, he leaves three sisters.

Red Invaders Trap French In Indochina

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh leaders reinforced their troops encircling two stoutly defended French-Laotian posts in the mountains north of Luang Prabang today. But the invaders continued to shy clear of any direct assault upon the Royal Laotian capital.

The Vietminh added new troops to forces surrounding the defending posts at Muongkhousa, 90 miles north of Luang Prabang, and Muongsai, 30 miles northwest of the royal capital. Both posts have beaten off repeated attacks during the last three weeks.

French and Laotian patrols, meanwhile, were unable to make any contact with Vietminh forces in the area north and east of Luang Prabang, where the Communist-led rebels have been concentrated, and around the Plain Des Jarres, 70 miles east of Luang Prabang. The French hope to entice the Reds into battle at these two heavily-defended points but so far the Vietminh has not obliged.

that the robber may have thought the bills to be checks, as some stores and restaurants keep checks under the register tray.

He then asked Mrs. McGowan if that was all the money they had in the Inn. She replied that it was. He then glanced around and to the left of the register where he saw a locked drawer, the owner's daughter related.

He asked her if she had the key to the drawer, Mrs. McGowan said, and after she told him she did not have it, he asked if she was alone in the restaurant. After she told him she was alone, he pulled out a pair of pliers from his pocket and proceeded to force open the drawer from its frame.

Cuts Telephone Line

The robber lifted the drawer, which contained bank bags ready for deposit, and put it under his arm. He then walked over to the pay telephone on the wall, Mrs. McGowan reported, and clipped the receiver off the telephone with the pliers.

Telling Mrs. McGowan "not to go after him or call for help for five minutes," the robber then walked out. Mrs. McGowan was under the impression he went around the building to the back, possibly toward Barks Rd.

As soon as the robber had left the building, Mrs. McGowan said she "started screaming and then fainted."

Mrs. McGowan's screams brought her mother, Mrs. Nash, who had been asleep in the living quarters behind the restaurant.

After getting dressed, Mrs. Nash went out to the highway and flagged down a motorist who took her to the Marion Police Department from where Mrs. Nash contacted Sheriff Obenour.

Mrs. McGowan said that she and her mother, who owns the Inn, had operated it for the last year. The

Columbus Man, 74, Is Beaten to Death By 3 Young Thugs

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Three young dungaree-clad thugs beat a 74-year-old man to death Monday night in a central market district saloon after threatening to "whip everyone in the house," police said.

The victim was John B. Church, a retired insurance salesman.

John Paul, owner of the Market Grill, told police the men came into the bar, ordered a beer, and picked fights with two men before attacking Church.

Witnesses said the men did not appear drunk but just "mean."

Coroner Robert A. Evans said Church may have died of injuries suffered when his head struck again a stool as he fell.

After striking Church, the three men fled. Police said their identities were established by witnesses.

Pool Backers To Sell Tickets For Ice Show

Teen Club Members Given Opportunity To Make Money

Teen Club members, Marion teenagers who are working for a community swimming pool, will sell tickets for the forthcoming Ice Cycles show as one of their money-making projects.

Tickets were distributed at Monday night's meeting in the Moose Lodge Hall where some 75 teenagers met.

Tickets for the opening night of the show, May 20, will be the only ones sold by the teenagers. The club will receive one half of the proceeds from the opening night tickets they sell to put toward their swimming pool project. The $1 tickets can be purchased from the Teen Club members or from any member of the Marion Community Recreation Center and can be turned in on a reserved seat ticket at the Gallaher Drug Store or the National City Bank.

Ice Cycles will open a four-night stand at the Coliseum May 20.

The club plans to meet next on Monday, May 18, when permanent officers will be elected. Meetings are held Mondays at the Moose Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Marion adults who are helping the teenagers in their ambitious goal will meet on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Moose Hall. Anyone interested in working toward the swimming pool goal can sign a pledge list at the Moose Hall and contribute $1.

Trustees of the adult group, organized as the Marion Community recreation Center, will be elected at the Thursday night meeting from the pledge list. A campaign for funds will be carried on later this summer, Marshall Browne, publicity chairman, reported.

Dr. Busler Removed From Hospital to Home

Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, was removed from City Hospital to his home on E. Center St. Monday. He is recovering from an intestinal operation which he underwent April 11.

of the information we have and some of the plans we are making in the area of national security."

When the first day's sessions ended, the governors—Democrats and Republicans alike—termed the briefings worthwhile and expressed hope there will be similar conferences in the future.

"The thing that amazes me," Gov. Earl Warren of California told reporters, "is that other presidents haven't done the same thing on as broad a scale before."

The governors were tight-lipped about what they heard from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff; Secretary of State Dulles; Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes; and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Many of the governors—from 44 states and five territories and possessions—said they had been admonished against talking to reporters about what they were told. Others said, however, they had learned nothing new.

Eke's Political Trip Not on Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a wee bit of history Thursday night when he flies to New York in a commercial airplane.

He is doing this, the White House announced late yesterday, because his trip is purely political—to address two $100-a-plate Republican dinners the same night—and the President doesn't think it would be fair to travel in the taxpayers' plane, the Columbine.

Calls for Military Re-survey

Taft Says $8½ Billion Arms Cut Not Enough

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration tentatively has decided to hold military spending at the 43 billion dollar level, but Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today the cut under former President Truman's estimates "isn't enough."

Taft, the Senate Republican leader, confirmed that President Eisenhower's announcement last week of an 8½ billion dollar cut-back in appropriation requests to Congress is based on continuing the military program at its present levels in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This would lop off the 2½ billion increase in arms spending proposed by Truman. Eisenhower has contended, however, that his administration will get more out of its dollars and thus attain approximately the same combat strength.

Taft said he thinks a Defense Department reorganization plan now pending before Congress, and proposed reductions in manpower and direct support to the defense efforts of our friends and allies." He called that division "a measure of the peril in which free nations continue to live."

"The blunt, sober truth is that we cannot afford to relax our defenses until we have seen clear, unmistakable evidence of genuinely peaceful purpose on the part of the Soviet Union," Eisenhower said.

Secretary of State Dulles, leading off before the congressional committee, made a virtually the same argument in differing words, and told the Congress members that if there is any error in the total figures the mistake has been in setting them too low.

While the request is $1,772,000,000 less than former President Truman made in his farewell budget for the year starting July 1, it still is higher than many Congress members seem willing to go.

"The reduction is not as great as many of us would like to see," Dulles said, "having regard to the need to balance the budget, to re-establish our currency and, eventually, to reduce taxes. The reduction is, however, as great as, in our judgment, can be reconciled with the essential security of the United States."

OHIO FIVE - DAY FORECAST

Temperatures Wednesday through Sunday will average near or slightly above normal. Normal high 66-north, 73 south. Normal low 46-49. Cooler Wednesday night and Thursday, followed by warming trends Saturday and Sunday.

The House. Monday, recalling the Ohio Penitentiary fire-riot last Halloween, voted stiff penalties for prisoners who hold guards hostage. The House vote for an additional maximum five-year sentence was 104-16. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Rep. William S. Burton (R-Cuyahoga), co-sponsor of the bill, said Ohio lacks laws to penalize prisoners who take guards captive. The penalty would apply also to prisoners who escape or try to escape and to those who aid escapes. The latter provisions resulted from a number of breaks and attempted breaks from Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane.

The House Conservation Committee considered a bill by Rep. Robert F. Groneman (R-Hamilton) to increase boat and motor license fees and to modify a number of laws relating to the department of natural resources. The measure was sent to a subcommittee for further study.

Hot Issues

Bills on Parimutuels, Jobless Compensation Face Stiff Opposition

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Ohio Senate was prepared for another of its knock-down-drag-out sessions today over the issue of a cut in employers' contribution to the unemployment compensation fund.

After a certain, bitter fight, which almost surely will follow party lines, the Senate will take up another hot issue, the question of increasing taxes on the parimutuel wagering at the state's horse race tracks.

Senate Democrats are reported ready to blast at the proposal by Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark) to cut unemployment compensation assessments about 30 million dollars a year. Present payments are about 70 millions. The Pollock bill would cut employers' payments to about 40 millions a year minus credit for 120 millions in interest on social security funds held by the federal government.

The Senate minority lead, Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek (D - Cuyahoga), told newsmen there is no question that Senate Democrats will oppose the bill.

He said he plans a telephonic conference, however, with Gov. Frank J. Lausche in Washington before arriving at Democratic policy on the horse-race tax bill. Lausche is in Washington attending President Eisenhower's conference for governors.

Lausche has proposed an additional tax on horse race betting, but he wants the increased state share in the profits to come from the money normally collected by the track operators, not the horse bettors.

The House. Monday, recalling the Ohio Penitentiary fire-riot last Halloween, voted stiff penalties for prisoners who hold guards hostage. The House vote for an additional maximum five-year sentence was 104-16. The measure now goes to the Senate.

first work out the functions of the neutral before deciding on the nation itself.

Harrison, senior Allied delegate, told reporters that the functions would apply equally to any neutral and said of the Red demand:

"That is merely a negotiating smoke screen. That's all in the world it is."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator, declared the "important question" is whether unwilling prisoners shall be sent to a neutral nation or shall be turned over to the neutral custodian in Korea.

Nam asked the U. N. Command to clarify these three points:

1. What steps would the Allies take to remove military control over the prisoners?

2. How would the U. N. Command at the same time enable the neutral to take control of the POWs?

3. How would it maintain order in the prison camps?

Harrison replied such matters could be quickly solved once agreement was reached on the neutral nation.

"It is obvious that since the details about which you have asked can be solved without serious difficulty it should be no real problem to you to nominate a neutral to perform the custodial function," Harrison said.

"Unless we reach agreement on all elements of the matter of custody and final disposition of the prisoners there will not be an armistice. Therefore, there is no need to discuss these details prior to agreement on the neutral state."

"Your evasion of the matter of agreeing on the neutral merely causes suspicions as to your motives. . . . Unless you are prepared to accept one of the nominees or nominate a different one, we have nothing further to say."

Nam replied:

"Since your side has nominated Pakistan to serve as a neutral nation we consider that your side has the obligation to make it clear just how to request Pakistan to accomplish its functions."

"We would still like to know the concrete views of your side on the questions I have put forward."

Harrison replied: "I have nothing further to say."

The plane is due in Honolulu in about 17 hours. After the men are given medical checkups they will be flown to Travis Air Force Base near San Francisco.

Sailor Grieves Over Broken Romance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sobbing over a broken romance, a Navy veteran, James Donald Whitaschek was pulled down the 11th-floor ledge of a downtown building yesterday while threatening to leap to the crowded sidewalk below.

"I'm all alone in the world and if it hadn't been for a girl I wouldn't be in this position," sobbed Whitaschek, 23, of Riverside, Calif., after Police Sgt. Robert Gremminger pulled him inside the building.

His grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Alma Whitaschek of San Francisco, said he broke off with his fiancée two years ago and had been brooding ever since.

Business Squabble May Break Up Andrews Sisters

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The singing Andrews sisters have been having a business squabble, but two-thirds of them don't think it's serious enough to break up the act.

Laverne, the oldest, was quoted in a copyrighted Los Angeles Mirror story yesterday as saying the sisters are through as a trio after 21 years. Patty, the youngest, and her husband, Wally Weschler, arranger for the act, are making unfair financial demands, Laverne was quoted.

Patty, however, said later the report was "a tremendous surprise," and there has never been any discussion of a breakup.

She said the tiff is over her desire to change the way the sisters handle their money. They used to pay expenses then split what was left three ways, she said, but she wants to split the gross three ways and let each sister pay her own expenses.

Maxine confirmed the dispute, but said, "Eventually it will be settled and everybody will be happy."

DELAYED TRIAL

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five years after the crime was committed, John W. Worthy, 21, has been sentenced to life imprisonment for the rape and murder of Mrs. Helen Takacy on a street near her home. Worthy pleaded guilty to second degree murder in strangling the 62-year-old druggist's wife.

Adjudged insane in 1949 and sent to Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane, he was pronounced sane last March and ordered to stand trial.

Bombs Over Troops By George Sokolsky

The various hearings on military affairs baffle the layman, because he inevitably assumes that the military man, being an expert in his field, would know exactly what he is doing.

Herbert Hoover likes to tell the story that when he was President he decided to mechanize the cavalry and appointed Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, to do it.

Along came distinguished cavalry generals and wept in their mustaches over the rejection of the horse. No internal combustion engine could ever, they said, be a substitute for a horse.

Since then the tank, the air plane, etc., have replaced the horse and sword, just as the bow and arrow have disappeared except as a sport for lovely young ladies.

THE PROBLEM that faces our country and the NATO nations is that if emphasis is to be placed on foot soldiers, they are numerically no match for the Russians. Present NATO plans call for 97 divisions of foot soldiers to be available immediately after the Russian attack, supported by other ground divisions in reserve.

The British have apparently discarded this concept as politically, economically and logistically impossible, which is confirmed by such an expert as Gen. Bonner Fellers, in his book, "Wings for Peace."

The British feel that no ground troops can be successful unless the air-atomic attack has been decisive. If the British view is correct, then our preparations must be centered on an air-atomic strategy.

The difference in view between air and infantry reaches the surface now because decisions have to be made as to costs of operations.

The British and the other NATO countries cannot bear the continuing costs and have been forced to depend upon American aid — a method of financing to which there is a rising tide of opposition: in America, because taxes are too high; in Europe, because dependence is unpalatable.

A MILITARY friend of mine suggests that a $50 billion appropriation should be broken down into this ratio: $20 billion for air, $10 billion for navy, $10 billion

The point has been made by British military men that ground forces cannot be spread out around Russia and China to contain these countries. This, of course, ought to be obvious to anyone who looks at a map.

THE LESSON of the Korean War is that such soldiers as the Chinese and Koreans, who had, for so many years, been regarded as inferior, can do some very modern fighting if adequately armed and trained.

Arion Award Given Bucyrus Senior

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS—The Arion Foundation Award, annually given the outstanding senior of the Bucyrus High School Band, today was held by Gene Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Shields. Presentation of the award was made by Bandmaster J. Richard Simecox during the annual spring concert of the band. Annual recognition also was given 13 other graduating members of the band. They include Victor Cassaro, Carolyn Baker, Don Garner, Morris Welge, Ronnie Weninger, John Cook, Ruth Ward, Grant Gilbert, Sam Inyocato, Nancy Corwin, Shirley Linn, Barbara Pfeiffer and Beverly Heath.

Therefore, it is not realistic to speak of superiority unless the superiority is in weapons.

Again, the question of priority arises. If the Russians ever gain air-atomic superiority, they can knock out Great Britain and attack the United States. Gen. Fellers says:

"Were the jet engines in a modern bomber to run continuously for eight hours, they could propel it from the walls of the Kremlin to the steel mills near Chicago. It is that simple.

If war comes, air attacks against America from Russia would be just as feasible as were our own attacks against Japan from Guam and Saipan in World War II."

THE BRITISH take this view very seriously because, if the Russians gain priority, the British know of no effective defense against atomic attack at this time.

They could be paralyzed, if not destroyed, in a few hours after war started. Therefore they want us to hold air-atomic superiority to negate any Russian concept of priority.

This is a difficult article for a layman to write because in translating a vast quantity of material into a short column, he undoubtedly oversimplifies. Yet, it seems clear that air-atomic superiority rather than a sentimentality about ground troops should be our budgetary target.

Charter Given Scout Troop

A troop charter for 1953 was presented to Boy Scout Troop 4 of Marion at a candlelight service held in the Wesley Methodist Church auditorium Sunday morning.

Dean Johnson, field executive of the Harding Area Council, made the presentation to Willard Gindthe troop, who in turn presented an institutional representative of it to George Schertzer, teacher of the Pathfinders Class of the church, which sponsors the troop. Roy C. Buckingham, troop scoutmaster, officiated.

Special recognition was given to the leaders of the group. They included Harold Stafford, assistant scoutmaster; E. L. Hathaway, explorer advisor; Willard Ginder, institutional representative and chairman of the committee; and Melvin McKnight, Lowell Schlecht, Fred Traxler and Virgil Williams, other members of the committee. Seventeen boys were in charge of pagentry for the charter presentation ceremony.

Inside Labor

News to Ryan

There on the Senate witness chair sat this six-buck-steak and Copacabana character who calls himself a labor leader, telling the senators and the television audience he did it all for the cause, the anti-Communist cause. He didn't know that crooks, knife - and - baseball - bat artists and gun slingers were strangling the military gateway to our world defenses, he said.

This character, Joe Ryan, not only knew all this but, not too far back, decided to do nothing about cleaning up the very piers on which mobsters—operating as his own union lieutenants—deliberately paralyzed shipments of material for our strategic air bases around the world.

WHILE MOB fought mob for control of the lucrative boodle on the New Jersey waterfront in New York harbor, a million-dollar project simply waited idly at our French Moroccan air base at Nouasseur.

Our government had contracted for the building of a "tent city" there. We wanted it up in a hurry because the military had decided to rush in a special airforce wing. But the airforce personnel had to wait while Ryan's lads played Russian roulette for control of the Claremont Terminal from which our armed forces shipped its raw material. There were just no nails for the tent city.

For two weeks, while Ryan's longshoremen lieutenants argued, making some loud and bloody points on each other with grenades and brass knuckles, our Air Force waited—because the nails were tied up in the Claremont warehouse by a "strike."

Had this been the wrong moment in history we'd have made good the ancient legend about the loss of a kingdom for want of a nail.

This was just one incident. At least $10 million worth of other construction equipment was delayed for two weeks last year, while 20,000 workers waited in North Africa.

SO NOBODY needs old King Joe in this fight against Communism. A few more allies like Ryan, and we're lost!

Small wonder Harry Bridges grinned as he sat there in the front row listening to Sen. Charles Tobey's hearings into waterfront rackets. That was the first easy moment Harry's ulcers have had in years.

There were at least 150 thugs with records at Claremont when the Army finally pulled out because it couldn't beat the mobs. At least 60 per cent of Ryan's other organizers have brutal police records.

So powerful, or so well protected, was this waterfront barony of the mobs that last year the Coast Guard was unable or unwilling to fingerprint them, the Treasury Department didn't move, the FBI wasn't summoned and the Army finally had to retreat southward.

Nowhere else was the "system" so powerful. In other ports, when locals of Ryan's International ongshoremen's Assn. struck—they still moved military cargo. But not these New York money-mad men of Ryan's special cause. They were anti-Communist—when it paid of.

BUT NOW the Army has found peace at last. When, some time ago, the Boston longshoremen struck, the Massachusetts men moved military cargo.

When in Philadelphia the longshoremen's union struck twice, on the docks and tug boats, for wages and benefits, they moved military cargo.

When in Charleston, S. C., the longshoremen decided that they "didn't want to work" (they can't strike because of regional regulations) and didn't show for commercial loading, they moved military cargo after the first day.

YET RYAN'S boys choked the Port of New York. Why? Certainly not because they couldn't be defied.

No mob moves in these days

Consider Reviving Treaty Talks

WASHINGTON — The United States, Britain and France are said to be discussing the wisdom of proposing to Russia a revival of talks aimed at writing a peace treaty for Austria.

Officials said last night that a new approach may be made in the wake of a recent editorial in Pravda, the official Communist paper in Moscow, that an Austrian settlement could be worked out if there was due regard for the democratic rights of the Austrian people.

Some 260 meetings of the Big Four powers have been held in a futile attempt to work out a treaty acceptable to all of them. The last session was held in London in February.

Less Than 150 Per Cent

One hideously sour note has been heard in the otherwise harmonious handling of United States soldiers released from Communist prisoner-of-war camps.

Soldiers sent to Valley Forge Military Hospital for corrective treatment to purge them of Communist indoctrination have broken through the military secrecy barrier.

They deny they yielded to Communist indoctrination. Some declare they lied about their thoughts and feelings under extreme Communist pressure. But they bitterly resent being classified as potential subversives after what they have been through in behalf of their country.

Their country owes them an apology. They can see what it is getting hard for many Americans to see — that an accusation of disloyalty against one citizen by another presupposes the accuser is superior to the accused in the quality of his own loyalty.

A fighting man who has braved death in behalf of his fellow citizens must wonder whose brains need washing when he is bundled off to a hospital for corrective treatment after being released from a prisoner-of-war camp.

Will the next step be an involuntary appearance before one of the several congressional committees which decide whose Americanism shall be challenged for being anything less than 150 per cent?

The Art of Politics

There is a strong disposition among Democrats in Congress to point with pride to the fact they are giving President Eisenhower as much or more support than the Republicans are giving him. The reason should be kept in sight at all times.

The Democrats are running for re-election. It would be gracious of a southerner like Sen. Sparkman, who was kicked in the teeth last November when it was his role to help Adlai Stevenson, to acknowledge this when he tells

Reorganization Danger

By David Lawrence

Safeguard Against One-Man Authority Lacking

Wide differences of opinion are emerging inside all three of the armed services concerning the merits of the plan submitted to Congress by the President under which the Department of Defense is to be "reorganized."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, formerly chief of naval operations, for instance, who was one of the consultants in drawing up the plan, says that he thinks it is a big improvement on the existing system. He has no fears of a "man on horseback" or a single military boss because of the increased powers that would be given the "chairman of the joint chiefs of staff."

Thomas K. Finletter, formerly secretary of the air force, however, fears the trend indicated is toward a single service with one uniform and an obliteration of service identities and spirit.

Rather than have this happen he prefers to see two departments — one embracing the Army and the other combining the Navy and the Air Force. He gives his ideas in "Collier's."

Inside the government there is a substantial amount of feeling among military and naval and air officers of top rank that the new plan spells trouble and that, instead of strengthening the military power on the command and planning side, it could actually mean a weakening of it.

This writer has discussed the plan with members of the commission which recommended it and with some of the consultants who were called in and with high officers of the Pentagon, all of whom insist that it was never contemplated that a "German general staff" concept should ever be given recognition.

The difference nevertheless between those who fear the concept is being given new momentum and those who scoff at such fears is simply the extent of one's faith in what the vaguely worded phrases of a proposed statute do mean or can be made to mean by those who hold office.

Nobody, for example, ever dreamed that when Congress passed a law in 1949 creating the chairman of the joint chiefs without even the right to vote in the Joint Chiefs sessions that he would be anything else but a sort of secretary general who did the "housekeeping" and kept the agenda for the Joint Chiefs. Actually he became and asserted the right to become the "military staff almost entirely his own he can, if he chooses, make himself through public prestige and private influence the most powerful single military chief the United States ever had.

Since Gen. Bradley was the only military member of the Commission that wrote the report it is being called the "Bradley Plan." It cannot be viewed, however, as in any sense personal, for Gen. Bradley himself retires in August of this year.

It does reflect a school of thought here which has constantly urged more and more power for a single chieftain and this is what critics have sensed as the incipient stages of the "German general staff" concept.

While it is easy to say that everything depends on the man who is appointed, the American people have been taught to believe that the greatest safety is to be found in a government of laws and not of men.

There are some good features of the proposed reorganization plan, especially those which give flexibility in administration to civilian officials and those which introduce scientific and economic analysts at high levels to assist in over-all planning.

The effort to relieve the Joint Chiefs of Staff of some of their duties on the ground that they are "overworked" really looks more like a plan to relegate them into the background so that a "chairman of the Joint Chiefs" may take over the main job of furnishing military advice to the president and the secretary of defense.

There may be a serious constitutional question involved. The president is named in the Constitution as the "commander-in-chief of the Army and the Navy of the United States." While the Constitution does not mention the Department of State or the Interior Department or any of the departments since created by Congress as executive agencies it does specifically mention the Army and the Navy as Constitutional departments. Just how much power over these Constitutional departments can Congress delegate in blanket fashion?

The Constitution says "Congress shall have power to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces."

With the specific duty resting on Congress to write laws governing the defense establishments, can Congress constitutionally

Intolerance of Self-Styled Liberals

By Raymond Moley

Somewhere, the shade of Niccolo Machiavelli must be observing some current political happenings with all the cynical amusement that is possible or allowable to a departed spirit. For he once wrote in all good faith that a prince should feign what he does not feel; that high professions of principle, while useful to the purists, are nothing more than professions; and, at least by implication, that many human beings claim as those of their opponents. The finest example is the long filibuster by self-styled liberals against the submerged lands bill. Not so long ago, senators like Lehman and Humphrey were screaming against those Southerners who used the filibuster to suppress a federal civil rights program. Now they are using it for their own purposes.

Such liberals, moreover, compound their inconsistency with hypocrisy. For they have denied either, people are bombarding me with letters denouncing such publicity for McCarthy. One suggests poison rather than publicity for the Wisconsin senator. Others suggest suppression of any mention of him.

These are the opinions of "liberals." They are against "witch hunts." They say that all should be allowed to speak and that the market-place of ideas should be free. That is—to all but McCarthy.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Real News Newsreel

America faces a puppy crisis. The dog shortage has reached alarming proportions. "Doggie in the Window," a top song on Hit Parade, is responsible. It has mushroomed into the theme song of the pet shops.

Never has the country been so pooch conscious. The pet shops are having trouble keeping the window full. Some have been forced to put in a supply of cats.

The song is the plaintive wail of a little girl for a puppy in a pet store window and it now amounts to a nationwide radio and TV plug for puppy sales.

Smart proprietors have opened phonograph stores next door and kept the record going full blast. Perhaps never have so many puppies found themselves in homes not exactly prepared for the job of raising them properly.

There should be a Tin Pan Alley sequel entitled "Housebreaking Headache in the Apartment."

We interviewed a distressed poodle yesterday. "It's terrible," the pooch said. "I was stared at by such mobs that at first I thought I must be a giraffe. Then I heard the kids singing 'Doggie in the Window' and began to understand."

"I've been stared at, petted, lifted up, crooned over and bargained over so much it's ruined my disposition. Why doesn't some song writer give us a break and write a number 'Goldfish in the Transom' or 'Goopies in the Doorway'?"

A few hours ago we heard of a Boston terrier that had plunged through the plate glass window and dashed down the street buckety-buckety, with one thought in mind . . . to bite disc jockeys and Patti Page!

In offering $100,000 to any Red airman who will fly in and give up a Soviet MIG or similar jet plane, Gen. Mark Clark is opening himself to the first charge of a border violation by a cash register.

It was most appropriate that Winston Churchill be made a Knight of the GARTER. . . . Didn't his SOCKS save the free world? . . .

A former Marquette football star has been arrested as a suspect in a St. Louis bank robbery. . . . So many were involved in it that there are suspicions that a two-platoon system was employed.

Thieves who used human-fly techniques to get across roof tops stole $80,000 worth of mink furs the other day. . . . That's a lot of work for ONE coat.

Harry Jolson, dead in Hollywood, was a brother of Al Jolson and Al first appeared with him in a sketch, "The Hebrew and the Cadet."

Alcoholic tests for auto drivers are being widely used, but none will be needed in the case of an operator who has spent a half hour at a martini party. . . . He will be found sitting how much Democratic support the Eisenhower administration is being given.

Eisenhower not only bent the Solid South; he broke it. Some believe he shattered the two-party system as it has been known since the Civil War. Southern voters whose unwillingness to vote Republican had been the major fact of Democratic politics since the Civil War discovered they could vote for Dwight Eisenhower and against the candidate of the labor unions and Americans for Democratic Action, the nucleus of the minority which had been running the Democratic party under Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

Every four years, much care and thought are lavished on the art of politics by citizens who forget all about politics until the next presidential election.

In the interval between 1952 and 1956 there should be no forgetting. President Eisenhower is in the White House with a bipartisan mandate. That is a fact of the utmost importance to every member of Congress who must seek a mandate of his own, beginning in 1954. It also is a fact of the utmost importance to voters.

The old Democratic party is no more, and neither is the GOP.

Lost in Laos

The trouble with saving the free world in Laos, as far as Americans are concerned, is that they don't know which way to turn first. This business of locking the doors and windows to keep out the burglars of the Communist conspiracy has outstripped their knowledge of geography.

Laos is a previously unheard-of kingdom in a part of the world which can be located only vaguely, if at all, by Americans. But the incentive to learn will be increased in a hurry as they learn about their government's commitments to snatch Laos from the jaws of the Communist conspiracy.

The commitment is only a shade less binding than the one which led to war in Korea. The United States has been furnishing assistance to Laos since 1950, when it was set up, like the republic of Korea, as a sop to Asiatic nationalism. But also like Korea, it was set up with no visible means of support—a fatal mistake.

Its creation was part of a deal in which Indo-China was "transformed" from a priceless asset of the French empire into Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos—three semi-autonomous governments absolutely dependent on outside aid for survival against the threat of marauding Communists.

The war of survival, which already had begun, has flourished ever since. The drive to overrun Laos, smallest and weakest of the trio (scarcely a million inhabitants) is merely a tactical maneuver in the war to overrun southeastern Asia. Since many political scientists consider southeastern Asia to be the most strategically-situated area on earth, there can be no secret about the importance of Laos.

The burglars have discovered another unlocked window.

Some fish are said to travel faster than an express train—and still we sit on the bank and try to catch them.

spokesman" of the government. He briefed the president almost daily on the military situation. He spoke in behalf of the Joint Chiefs before congressional committees. He even made public speeches on military and political policy at the time of Gen. MacArthur's return from the Far East.

A few weeks ago in a public speech, the present chairman gave the "military viewpoint" on the Korean War and called it "personal." It was not the viewpoint of all the Joint Chiefs.

There are those who believe that all this is the proper function of a "chairman" and there are others who think he is merely a "co-ordinator" and will remain so.

Now under the new plan the chairman is given control over the selection and tenure of 200 officers of the so-called "Joint Staff" who used to be responsible to all the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The chairman is to be placed at the right hand of the secretary of defense and with a military in a plan that permits the president to delegate almost complete authority to a secretary of defense who in turn is now to be given authority under the new plan to delegate whatever he pleases by way of authority to a "chairman of the Joint Chiefs"?

That's the question Congress will have to settle in the next 60 days because, unless either House rejects the plan and calls for a revamping of the whole thing so as to safeguard it against military absolutism, the "reorganization" will take effect and the die will have been cast toward the single-military-chief concept.

This was the one Goering and Hitler had and it lost the war for them. This is the plan, moreover, that has been repudiated by most military men in America.

Certainly there should be no objection to the insertion of legislative safeguards to prevent in the future abuse by anyone of the powers now so vaguely described as a simple "reorganization."

Declaration of Secession

By TRUMAN TWILL

All right, it goes without saying that we couldn't do what we're doing without machinery. But don't press the point.

I question the value of what we're doing, if it means taking the machinery with the benefit.

This is as good a time as any for my annual declaration of secession from the machine age as an active member. I have no objections to being an honorary member. I have no objections to riding in automobiles, being cooled by fans, using pre-heated water and lolling around while labor-saving machines do heavy work.

But I want no part of the care and maintenance of machinery. I do not even want to take a hand in its operation, lest it claim an additional share of my fingers.

In a word, the outdoor season is here again, and the one thing which detracts from my pleasure in being a stockholder in RFD is going strong.

It's blankety - blank, censored machinery

In my case, this is the simplest kind of machinery there is — simple little putt-putts that mow grass and cultivate gardens. In my case, these are transformed into leering monsters which bite, scratch, break bones, spring clavicles and become inert and useless when they are needed most desperately.

In less than one hour on a recent evening, the handle on the power mower broke, the engine on the garden tractor sickened and began to regurgitate gasoline all over itself and even the ordinary lawnmower—as simple as an egg-beater—turned up with a crack in a casting.

These things happen because of inadequate maintenance and knowledge of operation. They happen for the same reason that everything about animals goes awry in the hands of people who do not understand animals.

I do not understand machinery. I never will understand machinery. When it works, I admire what it does, provided it is not something ghastly, like dropping missiles on women and children. But I am unable to love it, coddle it, keep it in health and nurse it back to health. Machinery and I are not compatible.

I hate its moving parts. I hate its mysterious insides and its gizmos, its springs, rivets, cams, keys, sprockets, chains and battered set screws.

I hate its grating exhaust pipes, its noxious odors and the grease that rubs off on skin and clothing. Every time I see a farmer hung up by a busted machine, I stifle an impulse to scream, "Get a horse!"

I live for the day when I'll be able to own three horses in assorted sizes — a pony-sized one for light cultivating — plus a trained jackass to take care of all the machinery horses could use to advantage if the machines could be kept from falling apart.

Lusitania Salvage?

ROSSLARE HARBOR, Ireland —Salvage ships are fitting out here for another trip to the Atlantic's "ship's graveyard"—a 100 mile stretch off the Irish coast, where in two wars German U-boats claimed more than 150 victims. The salvage men are looking for valuable lead, copper and steel. One unconfirmed report said they may try for the cargo of the Cunard liner Lusitania, torpedoed in 1915 with the loss of 1198 lives.

a general principle rights that they have no intention of granting to others.

In the light of those conclusions, it is a pity that we cannot have the comments of that Florentine master of politics on the doings of some current figures who claim the name liberal.

For they are striving to prove exactly what Machiavelli wrote to Lorenzo, the Medicean prince.

In the true sense, liberalism, as professed and practiced by a Thomas Jefferson, meant free, two-way traffic in expressions and ideas.

A liberal of that early period believed that the test of truth was in the market-place of ideas. If a point of view survived, it proved that it was true.

The liberal also believed in a free market in goods, prices to be fixed by unfettered exchange.

With regard both to ideas and goods, the liberal was the implacable enemy of interference by the state.

The conservative was unfettered by any conviction that his opponent should be allowed complete freedom of speech. He believed in prudential control and direction.

A true conservative today is still theoretically unhampered by devotion to complete freedom. But as a matter of prudent government, he is probably the best friend that freedom has.

Today, the good name "liberal" has been appropriated for the most part by people who have forgotten or who never knew the original meaning of the word. They are for liberty for their ideas and for the suppression of that they have been trying to prevent action on the Holland bill. They are, they say, engaged in "education."

A fine example of the same sort of thing has been gathering on my desk this week. The magazine Newsweek, in line with the principle of giving both sides, ran a picture of Sen. McCarthy on the cover and a very impartial, factual article inside.

While I am not responsible for

When I saw last Sunday's papers, the face of "Junior" Morse was displayed on the front page. There was no disposition on my part to write letters to the papers denouncing that display, although my contempt for Morse's behavior is quite pronounced. McCarthy as well as Morse is news. And the one or the other or both will survive in the free market. Suppression is the enemy of that market.

Washington's 77 Statues

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

"Who's that statue?" the burly cab-driver asked as he pulled up at a stop light south of the White House and jerked his head toward a bronze man on a bronze horse.

"Is it Sherman, maybe?" I ventured. "I've been here a long time, but I'm not sure. There are 77 statues in town and I get mixed up. I'm one of those sorry citizens who never climbed the Washington Monument either."

"So'm I, lady," he said. "People who live here just know nothin' about the statues. I must'a asked two to three thousand people who that one was. Nobody knew. One day I'm goin' get out and look."

It was Sherman, I found out later, one of the 16 equestrian figures under jurisdiction of the National Capital Parks.

"I tell you, Miss Eads," T. Sutton Jett, special assistant to the superintendent of parks, said, "people who live nearest these things are so accustomed to seeing them they never think about finding out about them. Sometimes, the only time I see things is when I take people from out-of-town around."

People, he said even walk right up to the Washington Monument and ask the guide where it is.

A good way for people to get to know the statues and monuments, he says, is to join one of the history walks led by park officials on week ends. One of these is through Lafayette Park, across from the White House entrance, where there are five statues. Another is around the Capitol grounds where there are statues of Presidents Garfield and Grant and Gen. George Gordon Meade, hero of Gettysburg.

Some of the statues and monuments are getting their annual scrubbing, even behind the ears, and their under-pinnings are being strengthened. Congress appropriates about $10,000 for this job. Plain soap and water is used for the statues, and some of the bases are steam-cleaned. Biggest job is repointing the masonry, which cracks from freezing and thawing weather.

Washington outranks any other American city in the number of its statues and monuments, Jett says. The Andrew Jackson statue in Lafayette Park was the first equestrian statue erected here. It was cast from bronze cannon captured in the battle of Pensacola, War of 1812. Most famous is that of Gen. U. S. Grant, the second largest equestrian statue in the world. It is exceeded by a matter of inches by the monument of Italian King Victor Emmanuel in Rome.

There are three statues of Lincoln in the Capital, one in marble in the monument, another standing model in marble in Judiciary Square and one of bronze in Lincoln Park.

Favorable Outlook Reported

Business News Is Good

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business prospects look good to most businessmen.

Bankers find the boom continuing along fairly safe lines despite some contradictions. And statisticians find the boom backed up by a striking growth of real wealth widely distributed among American families.

These are the findings today of three sources viewing the economy from different angles.

First, Dun & Bradstreet interviewed 1,261 business executives around the country and found the majority expecting the last half of this year to be even better than the booming final months of 1952.

Two-thirds of them expect their sales totals will be higher. Most of the remainder think sales will be at least as high.

Half of them look for higher profits, and most of the others expect profits to be as high as they were last year.

Two-thirds of the executives believe more new orders will pour in the second half of this year than in the last half of 1952, and almost all of the other third expect new orders to be as high.

Nearly all expect to be hiring as many or more workers this year. The majority sees no change in their selling prices, and about half of them look for their inventories to be at the same level at the end of this year as at the start.

The broad base of consumer wealth on which business has to draw is shown in the second look at the economy today—this one by the National Industrial Conference Board which finds that half of U. S. families are now worth more than $7,500.

Consumer wealth in the United States has risen 50 per cent since the end of World War II. Asset holdings of cash, insurance, homes, business interests, and the like, now exceed 800 billion dollars, with offsetting debts of about 100 billion dollars.

The board's study of statistics fathered by a number of federal agencies show that a sixth of all families own more than $30,000 in net assets.

Over half of all American families own their own homes. Three-fifths of middle-income families own cars. Nearly three-fourths of all families have either bank accounts or savings bonds.

The third study of the economy today is by the National City Bank of New York. It has some misgivings about the health of the boom.

"The country," it says, "is in a boom in the sense that debts are increasing; that demand for investment funds exceeds current money savings, large though savings are; and that people are borrowing to buy."

Tax Specialist Fails To File Return

DALLAS (AP)—An accountant and tax specialist from Gainesville, Tex., was fined $1,000 yesterday and given a probated prison sentence in Federal District Court here.

The charge was failure to file income tax returns from 1946 to 1950.

Benjamin J. Seibel, 59, the defendant, pleaded no contest. He said he had been too busy working on other people's returns to file his own.

Bethlehem Grange Hears Talk By Joseph Fichter

Observance of Rural Life Sunday by Bethlehem Grange Sunday night at the grange hall featured a talk by Joseph W. Fichter of Oxford O., past master of the Ohio State Grange.

Fichter, a member of the executive committee of the Ohio State Grange and of the faculty of Miami University, talked to the group on the agricultural situation and said it "poses a complex problem."

He told the group that people in many parts of the world have insufficient food now, and the rapidly increasing population in the United States poses the problem of a possible food shortage a few years hence, especially if the weather should be unfavorable.

He told the audience the other side of the picture shows that farmers in the United States have been stepping up production at a fast pace for the last 40 years and that at the present time there appears to be a surplus of wheat, corn, cattle, hogs and butter.

The mixed chorus of about 40 voices from Waldo High School under the direction of Mrs. Robert Rice, school music instructor, provided music. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Alfred Fogle, grange chaplain.

Invocation was given by the Rev. W. F. Kissell, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Waldo, and the benediction was by the Rev. Robert Fichter, pastor of the Methodist Church in Waldo, and son of the speaker.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Robert Dunlap, grange lecturer.

But the next morning, Ruth Elizabeth Baumgardner was gone. That was 16 years ago. She hasn't been heard from since.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baumgardner of suburban Bay Village, followed every scrap of information, which poured in from all over the nation.

Says Parental Attitudes May Affect Child

Psychiatrists Hear Cases on Results Of Over-Indulgence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Parental attitudes may be feeding the fires of emotional conflict in the youngster and keeping him awake, Dr. Melitta Sperling of the State University of New York Medical Center told the American Psychiatric Association yesterday.

He cited the case of an over-indulgent mother who was so afraid of her boy's crying that she hired a helper to sit with him through the nights.

Dr. Sperling told the mother to let him cry. The mother said she would be evicted if she did that. Dr. Sperling gave her a certificate saying it was necessary. It worked. Three years later the boy was sleeping normally.

Dr. Sperling also told of a woman whose overcarefulness of her 6-month-old baby disguised a feeling of hostility. She would lean over the crib to make sure he was breathing; would fuss with the bed clothes and awaken the child, then take him out of his bed.

The mother had to be made to realize her attitude was responsible, Dr. Sperling said.

There was a 10-year-old girl who stayed awake until early morning, then slept until she would be late for school. Dr. Sperling found that as a baby the girl had been given hourly bottle feedings during the night because the mother thought the child's stomach was small. The girl drank a quart of milk during sleeping hours, and when the feedings were stopped she developed serious insomnia. Spankings and sedatives did no good. Psychiatric treatment straightened her out.

VOIDS PAVING CONTRACTS

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett Monday ordered the City of Columbus to tear up $319,000 in paving contracts for 13 streets and alleys and draw up new plans and take competitive bids on alternate types of paving. The city had awarded contracts calling for only a single kind of paving. The order, in a taxpayer's suit, was based on a recent similar decree issued by the Second District Court of Appeals against the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Attendance Mark Set at Lutheran Sunday School

A new record high in attendance at Emanuel Lutheran Sunday School, 714, was set Sunday at the final day of dedication services for the new educational building. It was the first time attendance has passed the 700 mark the pastor, the Rev. M. E. Hollensen, stated.

Attendance at the morning worship service was 861. The open house in the afternoon was attended by more than 500, bringing the figure on visitors to the new building during the four Sundays of dedication to approximately 1,300.

The special speaker at the worship service was the Rev. Raymond A. Vogeley, executive secretary of the Board of Parish Education of the American Lutheran Church. Serving as liturgist was the pastor who conducted the formal rite of dedication also. Music was by the Junior Choir and the combined Intermediate and Senior Chords. Members of the Young People's Missionary Society served as hosts and hostesses for the open house.

No. 13: Richard II. Ruled England 1377-1399.

Richard II and [→] his signature. There was so big a crowd at his coronation in 'Westminster' that an armour-clad knight was crushed to death. Ceremonies were so delayed they came to an end in darkness, no provision having been made for lighting them.

Born: 1367 at Bordeaux, son of Edward, "the Black Prince." He succeeded his grandfather, Edward III, when 10. He was so wearied by the coronation ceremonies he had to be carried back to the palace in a courtier's arms. He was only 15 when peasants, impoverished by the "Hundred Years' War," rose in revolt under Wat Tyler and captured London. The young king gained their confidence and promised redress of their wrongs, but the promises were broken. As Richard grew older, he was more arrogant and profligate. A visit he made to Ireland in 1399 gave his cousin, the Duke of Hereford, opportunity to seize the government. Richard, subject of a Shakespearean tragedy, died in prison.

Followers of John Wycliffe [1], religious reformer, completed the initial translation of the Bible into English in reign of Richard II. Leader of Peasant Revolt against Richard, Wat Tyler, was slain [1] by the Lord Mayor of London in 1381.

World's Temperature Rising, Scientist Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's average temperature is rising at the rates of 1½ degrees in 100 years, says Dr. Gilbert Plass of Johns Hopkins University, in part because of increased industrial activity.

Plass, a physicist, told the American Geophysical Union yesterday that industrial activity annually adds about six billion tons of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere.

Truckers in Close Brush With Death

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — A huge trailer truck crashed through the railing of the Pit River bridge at Shasta Lake and two men dangled perilously in the burning cab until pulled out by a rope moments before it crashed to the ground 45 feet below.

Paul M. Overbay, 45, the driver, and Henry H. Baum Jr., both of Portland, Ore., were crossing the bridge Sunday when the steering mechanism failed. The cab crashed through the railing and hung nose down but the trailer stayed on the bridge.

Two passing motorists, Walter Schau and Charles White, heard one of the men cry, "For God's sake get us out of here." They hauled them up just before the cab fell.

Injured Girl, Mother Praise Folks Here

OWU Co-Ed Leaves For Michigan Home After Long Recovery

A pretty blonde 17-year-old Ohio Wesleyan University coed went home to Flint, Mich., today. And she was never more happy.

She is Miss Darlene Terry. Her trip home marked the first time she had been out of doors for more than a month. She has been confined to a room at Marion City Hospital since March 15.

Miss Terry was a passenger in a car driven by a fellow OWU student, James B. Alderton, 19, of Detroit. The auto left the highway south of Marion on Route 23 around 10:15 p.m. on March 15. The students were making their way back to the Delaware campus after a week end spent with relatives and friends in Michigan.

The car plunged from the roadway, about two and one-half miles south of the city. Miss Terry's companion died at City Hospital three hours after the crash. Hospital authorities for a while feared for the life of Miss Terry.

She was suffering from a fractured left leg and pelvic injuries and was listed as critical. Alderton's death was due to rib fractures, a punctured lung and internal injuries.

Although seriously injured and barely able to talk, the plucky girl fought back and soon had conquered her injuries enough to sit up in bed.

A big factor in her rapid recovery has been the loving care of her mother, Mrs. Louise Terry. Mrs. Terry has been in Marion since the day after the accident caring for her daughter. She has been a resident of Hotel Harding but hotel employees have seen little of her since she checked in. They describe Mrs. Terry's movements between the hotel and the hospital by saying, "She leaves early and comes back late at night."

Both Miss Terry and her mother had a lump in their throats at leaving behind the many friends they have made in Marion. Mrs. Terry has just one thing to say of the local residents: "they're wonderful." Darlene feels the people at City Hospital are "just great" and the hospital people return that feeling.

Radio Station WMRN to Add FM Broadcasts

Marion radio station WMRN will begin broadcasting on a new FM transmitter at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday morning, according to Joseph Peters, chief engineer.

The new transmitter will operate in conjunction with the present AM transmitter.

The FM transmission will be on 106.9 megacycles, channel 295. The FM transmitter installation and construction of a new transmitting tower at WMRN has been under way for several weeks.

Present transmission on FM will be on a temporary permit, pending arrival of a license from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, Peters said. Hours of operation will be the same as the AM operation, as well as the programs broadcast.

Report Korean Front Quietest In 34 Months

SEOUL (U)—The Korean battlefield was so quiet today the sighting of a lone Communist soldier won official notice. But a U. S. Navy task force poured tons of shells and bombs into the battered east coast port of Wonsan in the heaviest strike in months.

"Our men sighted one Chinese near an outpost and threw grenades. He went away," read the day's battle report of an American division on the Western Front.

Some observers said the 155-mile line was quieter than at any time since the war began 34 months ago.

Four ships led by the battleship New Jersey bombarded Red gun positions ringing Wonsan harbor, while dive bombers and fighter-bombers from Task Force 77 bombed and rocketed the city. First reports said shells from the New Jersey's 16-inch rifles smashed the main Red observation post overlooking the harbor.

The attack was led by the cruiser St. Paul and supported by the destroyers Nicholas, Henderson, Moore, Brush and Endicott. Their guns hit Communist bridges and guns and the destroyer-mine-sweeper Endicott sank three Red sampans.

26-Day Fight On Tidelands Near Windup

Senate Expected To Pass Bill Tonight On State Ownership

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate today edged toward expected passage by nightfall of legislation to establish state ownership of oil-rich offshore submerged lands within their boundaries.

Opponents, although fighting to the end what they call a "give-away" of federal property, conceded defeat.

Votes on a series of amendments precede the final vote. Debate on each amendment was limited to 10 minutes beginning at 1 p.m.

Proponents predicted passage of the Eisenhower-backed measure by a margin of nearly 2 to 1. They call it a "restoration" to the states of property considered theirs for 150 years.

The opposition said the battle will continue in the courts and in the election campaigns of 1954 and subsequent years.

The House passed a similar, but farther-reaching, bill in March after two days of debate. This measure would provide a system of federal leasing of the outer continental shelf. So the legislation presumably will go to a conference committee.

The debate was the Senate's longest in 15 years. Beginning April 1, it occupied the upper chamber for nearly 200 hours in 26 days. (An antilynching bill tied up the senate for 30 days in 1938.) The submerged lands debate also produced a record continuous speech—the 22½-hour discourse of Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) April 24-25.

The Senate bill, co-sponsored by Sen. Holland (D-Fla) and 39 other senators, is similar to legislation twice vetoed by former President Truman.

It would recognize state ownership of offshore lands beneath the marginal seas out to the states' historic boundaries—generally 3 to 10½ miles, but not specified in the bill. The Supreme Court ruled three times the "paramount rights" of the federal government prevail in this area.

Two-Week Old Canton Strike Cripples Ford

Lack of Forgings To Cause Shutdowns, Layoffs, Company Says

DETROIT, Mich. (U)—The Ford Motor Co. said today a two-week-old strike at its Canton, O., forge plant "will be felt within the next few days in all phases of our manufacturing and assembly operations" and will result in layoffs and shutdowns.

Ford employs 135,000 hourly rated workers in its plants across the country.

"We will lose in general," the company said in a statement, "one day's production and employment for each day the strike continues beyond today."

Ford, however, said no system-wide shutdown is planned for any certain day and that shutdowns and layoffs will vary from plant to plant. When a plant is closed, it added, it will "not resume operation until pipelines of material now being depleted are replenished."

The Canton forge plant makes about two-thirds of the basic forgings used by Ford and is one of Ford's key suppliers. The 1,450 employees there are represented by the CIO United Automobile Workers Union.

The dispute revolves around wage rates for three new production job classifications and certain safety conditions. Neither Ford nor the union has been willing to elaborate.

Woman Badly Injured When Hit by Auto

Mrs. Bess Ballentine Struck in Front Of Home on Bellefontaine

A Marion woman pedestrian was badly injured in one of three traffic accidents which occurred during the past 24 hours, police reported today.

Mrs. Bess Ballentine of 191 Bellefontaine Ave. received a fractured pelvis, and bruises on her head, right arm and right leg when struck by a car while crossing the street in front of her residence at 8:05 p.m. Monday.

Taken to the Marion City Hospital by the driver of the car, Melvin D. Johnson, 28, of 137 S. High St., she was admitted for treatment and was reported in "fairly good" condition at the hospital today.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Ballentine started to walk north across Bellefontaine Ave. and was struck by Johnson's car which was traveling west on Bellefontaine Ave. after making a left turn off S. Prospect St.

Police Chief Coon said Mrs. Ballentine was not crossing the street at an intersection. He urged pedestrians to cross the street only at intersections or in cross-walks.

Mrs. Ballentine was the 21st person hurt in pedestrian-automobile accidents this year compared with 12 hurt and one killed in similar accidents for the same period last year.

In the remaining two accidents Monday no injuries and only slight damage was reported.

Truck driver Joseph V. Gross, 27, of Marion, W. Va. was arrested on a reckless driving charge following an accident at 6:25 a.m. today at S. Main and Hill Sts. Shotgun Fired In Delaware County Fence Dispute

Special to The Star
DELAWARE—A line fence dispute between owners of two adjoining Harlem Township farms culminated Sunday in the discharge of a shotgun and the arrest on Monday of one of the disputers on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

The farm owners are Donald H. Rice, 32, and E. J. Sebring, 62, both of the Sebring Road, one mile south of Center Village.

The charge was filed by Sebring and Rice was arrested at his home Monday. He was cited to appear before Justice E. Clifford Giltner.

Sheriff Earl Fravel said the dispute started some weeks ago when Rice's hogs invaded the Sebring property. Sebring was in favor of the construction of a line fence but was unable to persuade Rice to build his share after his half was put up. After Sebring appealed to the Harlem Township trustees Rice changed his mind and last week built his portion of the fence.

The sheriff added that Sebring contended the Rice fence was built on his land and tore it down. Then on Sunday morning, Rice rebuilt the fence while the Sebring family was at church. Later in the day, Sebring noticed the fence was up again and in company with his son, Noel, 24, went to the boundary line to tear it down again. It was then, Sebring told officers, that Rice appeared with a shotgun and fired two shots in their direction.

Details of the accident were not learned by Mrs. Reid. The young man's companion was injured, but how seriously is not known.

Mr. Orrison was born in Marion, leaving here when a small child when his family moved to South Bend. He was a graduate of Culver Military Academy.

Surviving also are his aunts, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Smith Witter of Canton, Mrs. Carroll Lavielle of Cleveland, Mrs. Arthur Zachman of Chicago, Mrs. Euphemia Houseworth of Columbus, Miss Laura Orrison and Miss Alma Orrison of South Bend.

Missing Girls Found at Carnival

Two young ladies who decided to pay a visit Monday afternoon to the carnival playing at Drake's show grounds caused a bit of worry to one of their mother's and an hour-long search of the north end by the Marion police.

At 12:56 p.m. Mrs. Homer T. Little of 200 Wallace St. called police and said her daughter Diane and another young lady visiting with Diane, Holly Schrader, had been missing for some time and apparently had wandered away from home.

There followed an hour-long search of the north end by the cruiser patrolmen and finally at about 1:50 p.m. the pair, dressed in T-shirts and jeans, were spotted as they walked from one booth to another on the carnival grounds on E. Fairground St. some five blocks from the Little residence.

Returned to the Little residence, they could see no reason for anyone to worry about them—they are "grown-up" young ladies of 3.

Enroute Home

HONOLULU (AP)—Three big military transport planes were headed eastward across the Pacific today with the last group of 149 sick and wounded American fighting men freed from Communist prison camps in Korea.

Only two of the liberated captives remained in Tokyo — Capt. Zach Dean of Douglass, Kan., having a second honeymoon with his wife there, and Pfc. Clifford Smith of Lake Charles, La., remaining for further medical treatment.

Texas

Within a single day, I have been enveloped by the rich full life of this new Canaan, flowing with milk, honey and hospitality.

INEZ ROBB

The sun is not yet set, and I have already had a ride in an air-conditioned Cadillac and have the recipient of four orchids. This is a total of 3.5 more orchids than I have ever owned heretofore at one and the same time. In full flower, I somewhat resemble a high-class gangster funeral.

As for the air-conditioned Cadillac, it has opened up a whole new vista of the good life to me, and confirmed my suspicion that the U. S. A. still retains the technological leadership of the world. Pray, six months from now, will be a fool not to lay claim to this great humanitarian invention.

I MUST confess that life is so meager on Poverty Flats, N. Y., that I was not privy to the fact that cars are not air-conditioned until I reached Dallas. It only costs another $535 to instruct the factory to build an air-conditioning unit into the family car before Dallas or Texas delivery.

And, after all, can happiness buy money? So why not invest a little hay in comfort, my Texas friends explain. Up north when we discuss air-conditioning, we mean in buildings. But, law me, air conditioning in homes and offices is SOP here and the next logical step was automobiles.

If you want to know what the poor people are doing in Dallas, I have the answer. They are riding around town in non-air conditioned heaps.

I predict the next great step forward in Texas will be air-conditioned people-cool air, that is.

WITHIN THIS lush day, I have also been measured for a gift ten-gallon hat, been invited to fly in a private plane over the West Texas oil fields, inspected the site of Dallas's projected 50-story skyscraper, which will be the tallest west of the Mississippi, received a bottle of perfume from the Medici of the West, Stanley Marcus; and glimpsed the new and imposing Eiffel Tower that rises over the city the lofty broadcasting facilities of the Dallas Times-Herald.

Friends have also been kind enough to send me a bouquet of Texas blue bonnets, now rioting across the Lone Star State, and in whose presence one must stand at rigid attention.

I have also gotten in on the tail-end of a Texas dust storm, naturally the biggest and the worst in Dallas history, which followed the biggest and most welcome rain storm or cloud burst by only 48 hours.

ONLY TEXAS, say these proud people, could scare up in such a short time a record-breaking rain followed by a dust storm of heroic proportions.

Much of Texas has been really suffering from a prolonged drought, one so severe that in many parts of the state, including Dallas, Texans have been forced to forego their favorite beverage, "bourbon and branch," for burbon on the rocks.

However, last week's rain was so copious that the city fathers declared a seven-day water holiday during which it has been permissible to pour a little branch in the bourbon. During this brief respite, Dallas citizens have been permitted to water their lawns whenever they pleased instead of once every fortnight, and to wash the air-conditioned Cadillacs with a hose instead of a sponge and one scant bucket of water.

However, they must return to strict water rationing again this week and once more will be reduced to straight bourbon.

It takes fresh cream for good coffee!

Good coffee is easy to make. Just use the right amount of coffee for the strength you like . . . don't try to make it stronger by perking it longer. First Quarter Retail Sales Up 8 Per Cent

March Sales in Ohio 10 Per Cent Higher Than for Year Ago

COLUMBUS—First quarter sales of Ohio retailers were 8 per cent ahead of the first quarter of 1952, and March sales were up 10 per cent over the corresponding month of last year, according to the "Ohio Retail Annalist," published by the Bureau of Business Research at Ohio State University.

This year's earlier Easter helped to push March sales ahead of last year, especially in the apparel and accessory lines, it was pointed out by James C. Yocum, "Annalist" editor.

All but 5 of the 26 kinds of business for which the University Bureau compiles figures had March-to-March sales gains. Automotive repair shops and paint-wallpaper-glass stores were the only lines with significant sales declines from March, 1952.

Largest March-to-March increases among Ohio retail lines were reported for automobile dealers (up 44 per cent) and farm equipment dealers (up 22 per cent), and by apparel lines—men's wear stores, up 24 per cent; shoe stores, up 22 per cent; women's ready-to-wear stores, up 16 per cent; and department stores, up 15 per cent.

Seasonally, March 1953 sales were up 15 per cent from February, almost exactly the "normal" seasonal increase.

The seasonally adjusted index of Ohio retail sales compiled by the Bureau of Business Research stood at 135 per cent of the 1947-49 average at the end of March.

Regionally, Ohio's retail sales "hot spot" is southern Ohio. First-quarter '53 sales are up 34 per cent in Portsmouth, 18 per cent in Ross County (Chillicothe).

Of the eight largest cities, Youngstown and Columbus, with first quarter increases of 15 and 15 per cent, were the sales leaders. Akron, Cincinnati, Dayton, and Toledo all had first-quarter gains of 7 or 8 per cent; Cleveland's gain is 6 per cent. In Canton the first-quarter sales decline has averaged 3 per cent.

The "Ohio Retail Annalist" is prepared at the University for Ohio retailers and others interested in trends in the state's retail trade.

Self-Service Plan Adopted By Hardware

Cussins & Fearn Co. Store Remodeled To Allow for Change

A new semi-self service plan has been placed in operation at the Cussins & Fearn Co. store in Marion and the company's 39 other stores in Ohio, Robert E. Cole, Marion store manager announced today.

The change has required considerable remodeling in the Marion store, which has been departmentalized. New bins, tables and display cases have been installed, as well as check-out counters and a new turnstile entrance. The store, located at 179 E. Center St., has also been redecorated.

The change, made on the 60th anniversary of the company, makes Cussins and Fearn the first hardware chain in the nation to use the self-service plan, Cole said.

The self-service plan was copied from supermarket groceries, according to Ray Wunderlich, president of the company. Among the features copied were the market basket on wheels, departmentalizing of the goods, the cashier line, and the receipt to each customer.

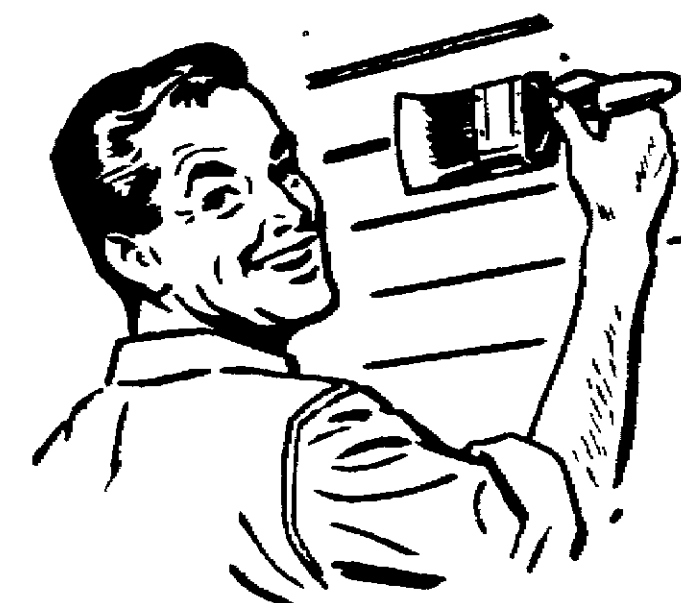

"We wondered whether or not hardware stores could be put on the semi-self service basis," he said in an announcement of the change, "and a little experimenting proved that it could. And it also showed that we can give the public faster and more efficient service with this idea."

"Shoppers don't have to stand around and wait for clerks who are busy with other customers. He takes his pushcart market basket and does his own shopping, and then goes through one of the cashiers' lines. The clerks are in the store, of course, and are ready to assist or advise the shopper whenever they need it."

The change-over from the old system to semi-self service will not mean a reduction in employment, Wunderlich said.

Short Honored for Long Service as Ford Dealer

Harold G. Short, president of the Short Ford Inc., and one of the state's oldest Ford dealers in point of service, was the honor guest at a Marion Country Club dinner on Friday night. The occasion was in observance of his 30 years' service as a Ford dealer.

Short owns Ford dealerships in Marion, Bellefontaine and Kenton. He at first was a partner in the Ford dealership at Kenton in 1923. In 1930 he assumed the dealership at Bellefontaine, after selling his interest in the Kenton company. In 1941, he bought the Kenton dealership. The Marion dealership was purchased four years ago. Both the Bellefontaine and Marion managements have received the Ford 4-Letter award, highest honor given to a Ford dealer.

A resident of Bellefontaine, Short was voted Citizen of the Year, an honor bestowed upon him four years ago by the American Legion post there. He was also head of the blood bank and a member of the rationing board there several years ago.

Among the some 40 persons attending the dinner were: from the Marion Short Ford, Inc., George Kennedy, general manager, George Weymouth, William Short, Melvin King, Richard Roux, Harold Titus, William Dutton, James Wickerham, Robert Glosser, Thurman Mathews, Robert Graham, Tom Boyd and Herbert Stuebner; from the Bellefontaine H. G. Short and Co., L. T. MacGillivray, general manager, Bill Barton, sales manager, George Zupp, Fred Darling, Kermit Saltz, Ivan Grubbs, Ivan Brugier, Carl Culp, Kenneth Painter, Blair Metz, Wilbur Fullerton, Frank O'Reilly, James Dee; from the Kenton Short Motor Co.,

Eugene Bowman, Willis Bopp, Leo Clark and Frank Henning.

Special guests were J. S. Kaven, special field manager, and R. H. Hoemke, field manager, for the Ford Motor Co. of Dearborn, Mich., Gordon Smith, William Dimmer, Gil Harre, and James Seitz, of the Universal CIT Credit Corp., and Tom Cronley, and Harold Cassell, both former associates of Mr. Short's in Bellefontaine and Marion and now of Tom Cronley, Inc., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Larceny Charges Against Bucyrus Trio Dropped

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS — Larceny charges filed last month against three Bucyrusians, were dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence at a hearing held here before Justice of Peace Robert C. Neff.

Freed of charges of tire thefts were William Davis, 24, his brother, Jack E., 23, and William Noggle. The Davis brothers have been free on $500 bond since their arrest April 16 by Bucyrus police. Noggle has been held in the Crawford County jail here as a parole violator and still is being held in the jail on the order of a state parole officer, Sheriff Elwood F. Jacobs said today.

The trio was charged with the theft of 39 tires, valued at $1,119, from the Goodyear Tire store here. Police said 15 of the tires were sold to a filling station operator at Butler, O.

Justice of Peace Neff said the charges, which were filed by Eugene Kehrer, store owner, were dismissed because of "the questionable nature of identification of tires, lack of records on the stolen tires and general lack of evidence."

More than $50,000,000 was saved by the Army Ordnance Corps in its recovery program of salvaged scrap brass and re-conditioned ammunition packing containers during the past year.

Ohio School Group Opposes County Committee

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS — Unanimous opposition to House Bill 128, which would create a county citizens committee to submit school reorganization proposals to the voters, was voted by leaders of the Ohio Community School Association at a meeting here over the week end.

Approximately 55 association representatives from nine counties heard the bill severely criticized by Pearson Linn, state publicity director of the organization and a member of the Crawford County School Board here.

Linn charged that the bill, known in the legislature as the Manahan-Longenecker - McClure proposal, would reduce the power of the local boards of education and substitute rule by citizens' committees in place of elected representatives. The bill provides for a nine-member citizen committee to be appointed by representatives of the various local school boards. No member could be a paid or elective school official. Linn asserted that a nine-member committee would be dominated by city interests.

State Rep. Charles Wheeler of Morrow County explained House Bill 252, which would make the state superintendent of public instruction answerable to the schools' administrative procedure act and also would require him to set up uniform school rating standards.

Five Win Sohio Scholarships

CLEVELAND — Winners of five new Sohio scholarships awarded for the college year 1953-54 were announced today by A. A. Stambaugh, chairman of the board of The Standard Oil Company (Ohio).

The winning candidates were three girls from Cleveland, Lakewood and Toledo respectively, and two boys from Shaker Heights and Sidney. They were selected by the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges as Sohio scholarship winners on the basis of national competitive examinations conducted March 14.

Sohio made a $35,000 grant to the OFIC in April for the 1953-54 school year. This includes tuition and certain other academic fees for the five Sohio youngsters currently enrolled at OFIC colleges under the Sohio Scholarship Plan and also for this year's five winners, who will be newly enrolled next fall.

Open to children of Sohio employees, dealers, distributors and jobbers who are high school grad-winners to enter any one of 22 colleges, the scholarships entitles the OFIC member colleges.

Harding Baseballers Nip Galion For 2-1 Victory

Harding bore down in the clutch for a 2-1 win over Galion there Monday afternoon.

The locals picked up their runs in the second and third innings and held on in the final two frames for the win, their fifth against three defeats and a tie.

The scheduled game with Lima Central today has been called off due to Central competing in tourney play. Harding travels to Mansfield Thursday.

John McKinstry replaced Red Emmons in the sixth after Galion had shoved across its lone run with one out and second and third base filled. Catcher Ron Conroy picked off a man at third base and McKinstry got the next man on a strike-out.

With the bases loaded and one out in the seventh, McKinstry fanned the next two batters for the win.

The Prexies scored in the second when Jim Chapman walked, stole second and went to third on the overthrow from the catcher to second, and stole home.

Harding's second run came when Eddie Morse singled on a hit and run play and scored Bob Emmons who had reached base on an error.

Nicholls paced the eight-hit Galion attack with a single and double and Engel collected a two-bagger.

The Galion hurler fanned ten while walking three. Red Emmons whiffed eight and walked two and McKinstry got four men on strike-outs and didn't walk a man.

Drop 7-5 Verdict

Green Camp Eliminated From District Tourney

Green Camp, Marion County's representative in the Central District Class B baseball tournament, dropped its first start Monday afternoon to Columbus St. Mary, 7-5, at Ohio State University.

Each team collected three hits, but took advantage of walks, errors, passed balls, and hit batsmen for their runs.

The winners scored their first five runs, in the first two frames, without benefit of a hit and added a pair of runs in the third to clinch the verdict.

Jack Green, third baseman, doubled home Green Camp's first run in the first frame, knotting the score at 1-1 before the winners came up with four runs in the second.

Second baseman Harold Wasserbeck's double followed by a passed ball and fly ball gave Green Camp its second run in the third frame. Green Camp shoved three runs across the plate in the fifth to end its scoring.

Larry Wells started for Green Camp but was troubled by a pulled muscle in his left leg and gave way to Louis Finch in the second. Wells fanned two and Finch struck out six. Vogel, St. Mary hurler, fanned nine while walking six.

Car Crowded Off Road, Knocks Down Phone Pole

A car driven by Delbert K. Burl of Lorain was considerably damaged at 1 a.m. today on Route 4, just north of the city, when it was sideswiped and crowded off the highway by an unidentified oncoming car.

Burl's northbound car then struck and knocked down a General Telephone Co. pole, according to state highway patrolmen who investigated the accident. Telephone lines at the northern edge of the city were down for some time.

The unknown car did not stop at the scene of the accident, patrolmen said. Considerable damage to the left side of the Burl auto was reported.

Broken Drawbar Blocks Traffic

A broken drawbar on a south-bound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train blocked east and west bound traffic on W. Center St. for some 40 minutes this morning.

The break in the drawbar caused the air hose between the cars to separate and automatically set the brakes on all the cars in the train. It was necessary for train crewmen to release the brakes on each car before the train could be moved.

Observers reported that the train on the crossing caused early morning traffic to industrial plants on the west side and other traffic to the downtown area to pile up for several blocks on both sides of the crossing.

The break occurred shortly after 7 a.m., police reported.

Mizell Breaks Pittsburgh Win Streak With Two-Hitter

Braves Whip Brooklyn; Phillies Grab Top Spot

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports writer

The folks down in Vinegar Bend, Ala., better start thumbing their St. Louis guidebooks. This looks like a good year to go watch Wilmer pitch.

Wilmer, as he is known to his grandma, is better known to baseball fans as Vinegar Bend Mizell, the 22-year-old plowboy who pitches for the St. Louis Cardinals.

A left-hander with all the eccentricities usually associated with southpaws, plus a whole bundle of his own, Mizell is the greatest character, in the true sense of the word, to his find his way into the Cardinal organization since Dizzy Dean.

Last night at Pittsburgh Vinegar Bend mowed down the recently dangerous Pittsburgh Pirates on two measley hits. He struck out nine and didn't allow a safety until rookie Carlos Bernier broke through with a single in the sixth. Frank Thomas got the only other Pittsburgh hit, also a single, with two out in the ninth. St. Louis won the game, 5-0.

When Mizell was pitching for Houston of the Texas League in 1951 the entire population of Vinegar Bend—total 35—went over to see him pitch against Shreveport.

Since Wilmer has won two games and pitched one rain-shortened tie, this would seem an appropriate time for them to move in on Busch Stadium for another look at the local boy.

While Mizell was ending the Pirates' five-game winning streak, two other streaks in the National League also were broken. The Milwaukee Braves stopped Brooklyn at six straight with a 9-4 decision at Ebbets Field and the Cincinnati Reds snapped their eight-game losing streak at the expense of the New York Giants. This happened, 9-5, in the second game of a double header after the Giants had won the first game, 12-4.

The Philadelphia Phillies took sole possession of first place in the National League as Brooklyn lost by whipping Chicago, 8-4.

In the only American League action the lowly Detroit Tigers rose up and conquered the New York Yankees, 10-8, knocking the Yanks down into a percentage tie for first place with the Cleveland Indians.

Boston at St. Louis was postponed because of wet grounds and the other four clubs weren't scheduled.

The Braves' victory was a sweet one for the Wisconsin Redmen, who bowed 18 times in 21 meetings with Brooklyn last season. After sending Preacher Roe to the showers in two innings the Braves exploded for five runs against Clem Labine in the sixth inning to get the decision. Del Crandall, Johnny Logan and Sid Gordon led the 15-hit Milwaukee attack.

Del Ennis had a big night for the Phillies. He drove home five runs, three of them on a double, and hit a home run as Jim Konstanty picked up his second success against one loss.

Daryl Spencer, the Giants rookie third baseman who was benched last week for weak hitting, smashed his first major league grand slam home run in New York's first game triumph over the Redlegs.

Gus Bell matched Spencer's effort for Cincinnati in the nightcap. Bell and Ted Kluszewski collected 10 hits and drove in 12 runs during the long afternoon.

Detroit hammered Vic Raschi and three successors for 18 hits, including four doubles and two triples. The Yankees have used 15 pitchers in their last four games, of which they have won only one.

Olson, Young Bout to Clear Title Picture

NEW YORK (AP)—The middleweight muddle may be cleared in September now that big Jim Norris has the Carl (Bobo) Olson-Paddy Young scrap ticketed for Madison Square Garden June 19.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

We're convinced that baseball fans are the most fickle brand of human beings alive. A major league player must be a combination Frank Merriwell and Babe Ruth to keep them happy.

An incident last week convinced us of that point. We were sitting in a downtown beanery watching the Cleveland Indians fight the Philadelphia Athletics and listening to the fans' reaction as well.

Larry Doby had singled in a run in his last appearance at the plate but in a later trip he missed three roundhouse attempts at the fence. Immediately those viewers, who two innings earlier had been applauding, now demanded his scalp. Others simply ignored his previous hit and proclaimed even louder that he was little more than a bush leaguer.

One belligerent Indian fan attempted to prove his point by saying Doby led the league in striking out last season and he should be shipped out due to that. We won't dispute the fact that Doby tied for the lead in whiffs but will argue till the cows come home against the Tribe's letting him go. With a total of 111 strikeouts, the Indian outfielder tied for the lead with the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and we have yet to hear anyone suggest Mantle be hauled away.

With the exception of season batting marks, Doby seems to have an edge on Mantle in all other departments. Mantle hit at a .311 clip while the Cleveland star turned in a respectable .276. In slugging percentage Doby held an edge, .541 to .530. His 104 total in the all-important runs batted in department, topped Mantle, who banged home 87. Mantle worked opposing pitchers for 75 free passes while Doby was given 90 walks.

None of the Indians, it must be reported, seems particularly frightened. In fact, one of them said the other day the important thing is not whether Yanks win or lose—it's to make sure the Indians "keep winning."

Begin Trade Talks

Chisox Brass In Attempt To Buy Help For Team

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Agreed that something is wrong with their Chicago White Sox, General Manager Frank Lane and Field Manager Paul Richards have their own pet ideas on just what it is.

Lane, baseball's garrulous trading machine, has started looking around for right-handed hitters. Richards, the lean, intense Texan who had said his 1953 squad has the stuff from which pennants are woven, worries about pitching.

The Sox actually aren't in bad shape. Although two losses to Philadelphia Sunday—4-2 and 10-6—dropped them to fifth place, they're only two games behind the American League's first-place New York Yankees.

But with the exception of a couple of games, they haven't looked particularly good even in contests they've won.

Both Lane and Richards can produce a flock of statistics to back their respective positions on the club's apparent weaknesses.

The general manager said last night that he had talked by telephone with officials of two other major league clubs about the possibility of a trade for a right-handed hitter. He didn't name clubs he approached or players he wants.

He did say he got nowhere.

He also pointed out that six of the Sox' eight defeats have been administered by left-handed pitchers—including Bobby Shantz and Alex Kellner of the Athletics in Sunday's double loss. Of the 10 Sox victories to date, only one was gained against a starting left-hander.

The team batting average against southpaws is .198, against right-handers .250.

Richards, meantime, described his club's performance against Philadelphia Sunday as lousy. He said he's through experimenting with pitchers and that, for better or worse, he's decided to stick to a starting quintet of Billy Pierce, Saul Rogovin, Joe Dobson, Mike Fornieles and Gene Bearden.

Of the entire Sox staff, only Pierce and Dobson have lasted a complete game. The assortment as a whole has yielded a fat earned run average of 4½ per game, almost double last year's figure. In 150 innings, they've given up 80 runs, 89 walks and 144 hits.

The top five, said Richards, all "will have to go more than six innings; we'll just have to hope for the best from the rest."

Iberia Bows, 7-3, To Holy Family

Iberia, Morrow County baseball champions, was eliminated from the District Class B tournament Monday at Columbus South High School. The Presidents were downed by Holy Family, 7-3.

Charles Varner, Holy Family hurler, allowed the Morrow Countians four hits. He walked only one and struck out 15.

The winners got to Iberia ace, Eddie Stall, early. They scored three runs in the first inning on a walk, an error and two base hits. A single marker was added in the second on a hit batsman and a base knock. Three clinchers were added in the fourth on an error, a walk and two hits, including a triple by Leo Driscoll. Driscoll topped the Holy Family attack with three runs driven in.

Thus far this season, Doby has found the singles and doubles a little hard to come by and finds himself hitting at a lowly .218 clip. However, he already has brought in 11 runs to place second on the club to Al Rosen with 12. Doby's three home runs lead the club in that department.

We'll give odds the first day Doby comes through with three for three, including a couple of home run blasts, he'll be the toast of Marion as well as Cleveland.

SPRINGTIME. The past week end brought the first taste of real spring weather and the fancies of young men, and young ladies, lightly turned to thoughts of golfing, fishing and touring. Girl Baseball Teams To Appear In Benefit

A pair of American Girls Baseball League teams, Ft. Wayne's Daisies and the Kalamazoo Lassies, are scheduled for an exhibition game at Lincoln Park May 14 at 8 p.m.

The game is being sponsored by the Baseball for Boys Commission and all profits will go toward Baseball for Boys, which includes Little League Baseball and the Pony League.

The two teams close their spring training camp at Pokagon State Park in Indiana Friday and start immediately on their exhibition swing through Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan. The clubs will play a 13-game exhibition series.

The Daisies copped the lead pennant last year and the Lassies are expected to be serious contenders for the 1953 flag.

Some of the outstanding players in the American Girls Baseball League are on the Daisies and Lassies. One of the hardest hitters in the league, Betty Foss of Metropolis, Ill., is with the Daisies. She plays first base and led the league in runs scored with 81, hits with 137, total bases with 209, doubles with 26, triples with 17 and batted in 74 runs. She finished the season with a .331 average, just a few percentage points below her teammate and league leader, Jo Weaver, who had a hefty .344 average for the campaign.

In the Kalamazoo Lassie lineup will be another hard-hitting outfielder, Doris Sams of Knoxville, Tenn. She slammed out 12 home runs for leadership in that department last season.

Fans will see some sharp fielding. The Daisies led the league in double plays last season with 71. The Lassies, second best fielding team in the league, executed 52 twin-killings.

Dottie Schroeder, Lassies' shortstop, had a part in 38 double plays last year from her shortstop position, more than any shortstop in the loop. The pig-tailed Sadorus, Ill., girl was wearing a Ft. Wayne uniform last season but was sent to Kalamazoo in a trade this spring.

Also seen in action in addition to the veterans, will be promising rookies uncovered at the league rookie school this spring and at spring training camp.

The girls' game is played with a 10-inch ball as compared with the 9 1/16-inch ball used in baseball and the pitching mound is four feet closer to home plate than in men's baseball. Base paths are 75 feet in length. Overhand pitching is used and the game is the same as men's baseball.

Giles Expects Reduction In Night Games

Says Television Will Force Game Back to Afternoon

NEW YORK (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the National League, said today television may force major league baseball from under the arcs back into the daylight.

"I think we will see a contraction rather than an increase in night games," Giles said, "and mainly because of television."

"I consider television a problem, sure, but as an industry—not because baseball is being televised. It's a new diversion for the prospective fan."

"Yars ago people had a choice whether they'd go to a movie, the theater or a ball game. Now they have these choices plus that of whether to stay at home and look at the screen."

"With attractive schedules beamed into their homes at night, many of them choose not to go out and baseball suffers. Maybe baseball will go back to the afternoon, when the TV competition is not so stiff."

Redlegs Win After Losing Eight Straight

Kluszewski, Bell Lead Cincy to Split Against Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, after eight defeats, finally yanked the emergency cord Monday for a 9-5 triumph over the New York Giants to split a doubleheader.

The Giants brow beat the Redlegs into submission in the opener, 12-4, after whacking 19 hits around the Polo Grounds.

The second-game victory, credited to Bubba Church, was the first for the Cincinnati since they edged the Cardinals at St. Louis, 5-4, on April 21.

The heroes for Cincinnati were outfielder Gus Bell and first baseman Ted Kluszewski, who shows every sign of regaining his 1952 power. Bell hit five for nine, driving in eight runs in both games, while Klu's total was five for eight and four RBIs.

In the opener, the Giants jumped on starter Ken Raffensberger for two runs in the second frame on Monte Irvin's homer and three singles. Monte slashed a triple after Alvin Dark singled and scored himself on a fly to make it 4-0 in the third.

Both clubs scored a run in the fourth, the Redlegs on three singles, with Kluszewski driving in the run, and the Giants on two singles and a fly while driving out Raffy.

Larry Jansen bowed out in the seventh as Bell cut the New York lead to one run on his third homer of the season, following a single by Klu and a walk to Jim Green-grass.

Daryl Spencer's first major league grand-slam home run helped put the game beyond recall for Cincinnati as the Giants bulled through with seven runs in the eighth.

In the finale, Kluszewski lost no time in showing New York this was a new game by riffling a 400-foot home run into the rightfield stands following singles by Grady Hatton and Bell.

After stopped by double plays in the fifth and sixth, the Redlegs made it 8-0 in the seventh off Max Lanier, who relieved Jim Hearn. Pitcher Bubba Church opened by beating out a swinging bunt. After Bob Marquis and Hatton sacrificed and reached base safely on fielder's choices to load

Notre Dame Gridders Set For Campaign

Leahy's Expression Of Satisfaction May Mean Powerhouse

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—There is a growing feeling that college football rulemakers, in their decision to abandon the two-platoon system in 1953, have played right into the hands of Notre Dame's Frank Leahy.

Leahy, himself, is avidly against the change and believes it will reduce the quality of the game. But like other coaches in the country, he is trying to make the most out of what he has.

He has plenty. In the NCAA-restricted spring practices of 20 sessions, Leahy has succeeded in developing double-duty performers who function smoothly on defense as well as offense and have 60-minute stamina.

The development has been so successful that Leahy admits he is "satisfied." This admission from the usually pessimistic mentor, plus hints from his assistants and a general exuberance, give rise to speculation that Notre Dame is preparing to unleash another gridiron monster, if not this season, then next for certain.

The fighting Irish last fall rolled up a 7-2-1 record, including major upsets over Oklahoma and Southern California. They did it with one of their smallest squads in history, about 50.

But the small squad really turned out to be a blessing in disguise. There weren't enough players for full two-platoon action in practices so many of them were required to scrimmage on defense and offense.

Notre Dame's 1953 spring roster includes 76 men—38 freshmen, 20 sophomores and 18 juniors. Twenty-three lettermen are returning including the starting backfield of quarterbacks Ralph Guglielmi and Tom Carey; halfbacks Johnny Latner, All-America and 1952's main double-duty player, and Joe Heap; and fullback Neil Worden.

Thirteen veterans are in the line, including such regulars as Art Hunter, an end being converted to tackle; end and captain Don Penza; tackle Frank Varrichione and guards Sam Palumbo and Jack Lee.

Along with the veteran group is a liberal mixture of classy freshmen who will be sophomores this fall and whose addition give the Irish its most, and best, manpower since the national championship

Record Purse Seen for Jug

1954 Delaware Classic To Pay Out $60,000

DELAWARE, O. (AP)—H. C. Thompson, secretary of the Little Brown Jug annual racing classic, expects the 1954 event to be worth at least $70,000—an all-time high. The previous high was in 1951, when Tar Heel won $66,280.

He made the prediction after owners of 146 two-year-old pacers, paid $100 each. Remaining fees to qualify for the meeting for three-year-olds are $250, starting next Jan. 1 and starting fees of $500.

This year's contest, to be held Sept. 24 as part of the Delaware County Fair Grand Circuit, will be worth about $60,000.

Infirmities Of Geniuses Studied

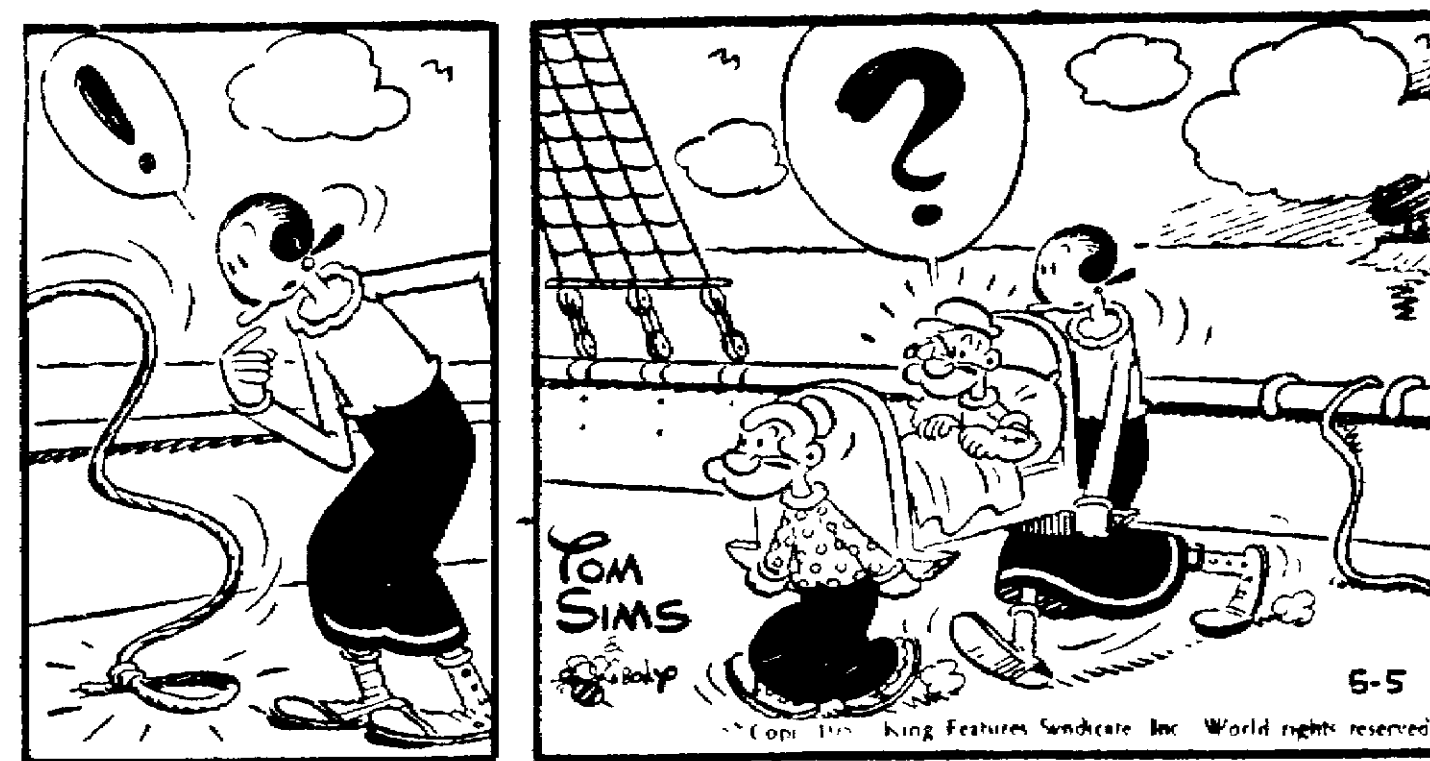

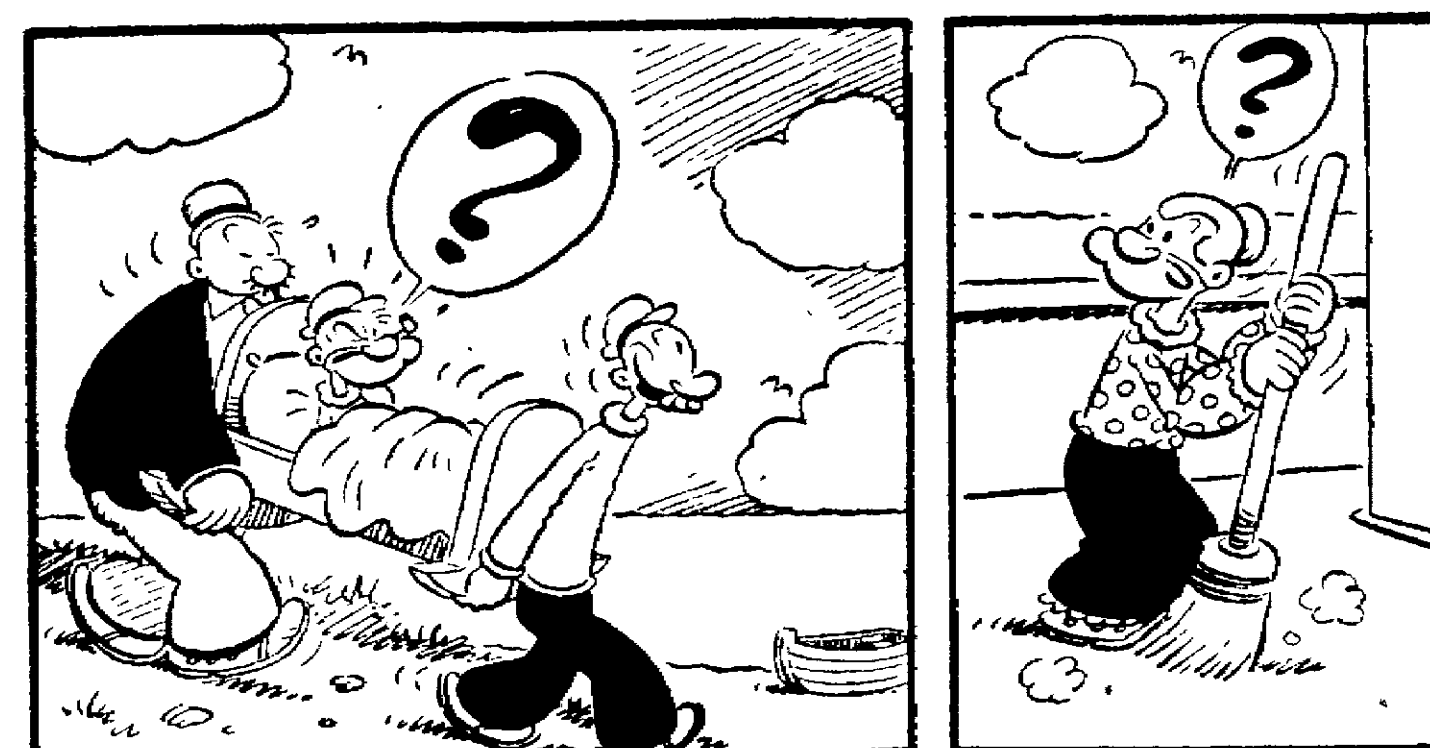

LONDON (UP)—Dr. W. R. Bett, in a new book, "The Infirmities of Genius," poses the question as to whether genius flourishes only under abnormal stimulus.

Dr. Bett cites the following writers:

because he was a psychopath, "but our subjects surely show that, given the necessary qualities of mind, more than one process which the psychiatrist calls pathological may be an essential element of the virtue of genius."

Carlyle's life was an unresolvable mental conflict.

Shelley drank laudanum and his cruelty to his wife drove her to suicide.

Swinburne was a drunkard who had fits.

Poe was an manic-depressive who sought relief in opium and liquor.

Quincy took an ounce of opium daily.

Beaudelaire was a syphilitic who died paralyzed.

Charles Lamb had to be put in a straightjacket when he was a young man.

Balzac wrote his greatest works while suffering from hypertension. Keats died of tuberculosis. Burns had rheumatic fever. Byron had a club foot.

Pope was a hunch back and was hampered by headaches and asthma.

Dr. Bett added that clearly no man was a great creative genius

True Alignment

GENEVA, N.Y. (UP)—Increased eyeglass comfort and convenience were forecast here with the introduction of a new rimless eyeglass frame that holds both lenses in proper alignment solely through the tension of its metal mounting.

The revolutionary frame is said to offer a wider and clearer field of vision. The need for drilling conspicuous holes or otherwise marring the lens' viewing surface is eliminated. The mounting also minimizes lens breakage, adjustments and repair.

The trend toward push-button housekeeping will increase during the next 10 years, according to the research department of a midwest manufacturer. The company foresees automatic control of windows, doors, lights, radio and television sets, as well as heating and air conditioning.
